It is amounced at Washington that the investigation of the water resources of the United States, undertaken by the Geological Survey, has been practically completed. The work was commenced in 1889 with the object of determining the quantity of water avail- A able for the irrigation of arid lands or for use as water power. Studies have been made of most of the drainage basins west of the 100th meridian, and The Postoffice Makes a Ruling on scientists devoted a large part of the time in examining the flow of the Missouri, Arkansas, Rio Grande and Snake

Geologist Newell, who conducted the investigation, says it does not appear probable that even so high as 10 per cent of the lands owned by the Goverument can ever be irrigated, in fact, there is not a sufficient supply of water to bring under cultivation an area equal to that which has passed into the hands of individuals and corporations There are, however, localities where thousand of acres can be profitably irrigated by the construction of dams and irrigating canals.

Major Powell, who is at the head of the Geological Survey, and under whose direction the investigation has been made, expressed the opinion some ally. time ago that not one-tenth of the arid lands could be brought under cultivation in co. sequence of the scarcity of water. This opinion was combatted by men who were connected with the examination made in the arid region under the Government some years ago. Now the report of Geologist Newell corroborates the opinion of Major Powell, but nevertheless it will be disputed by many. There is perhaps, less the Truckee, Carson and Walker rivers, which have their sources in the Sierra Nevada, than in any other State in the U iion, yet men who know whereof they speak, say that enough water flows into Humboldt like, seven years out of elgut, to irrigate ten times t e area of land now cultivated in the Humboldt valley. Then there is the Owyhee, which rises in northern Elko and flows erous small streams in eastern, central turn to Honolulu. and southern Nevada, which by storirrigate one-tenth of the lands along their courses.

In western Nevada the Truckee, Carso surveyors say, to irrigate tifty times as much land as is now under cultivation along their courses, so that those who quistion the accuracy of the estim v v 1.18 by the Goological Survey some to have the best of the argument. WHAT THE TRADE FEDERATION

FAVORS.

The Third Annual Convention of the Pacific Council of Trades and Labor Federation is in session at Sacramento. Delegates are in attendance from California, Oregon and Washington, representing a membership of 31,087.

The convention ratified the agree-Alliance and adopted resolutions in favor of municipal ownership of gas, electric light, water works and street rulways, the nationalization of telegraph and railway lines and the establishment of postal savings banks. It demands the substitution of treasury notes and gold and silver, the latter to be coined at the ratio of 16 to 1, for national bank notes and opposes the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. It also favors a graduated land tax until land monopoly is destroyed, and a graduated tax on all incomes over $3,000, the rate increasing in proportion to the income. That cities should own light and water works is generally admitted and time the Republicans smile broadly that the Government should control and chuckle over the excellent opportelegraph lines, as it does the mails, is tunities presented to bring into Conalso conceded by a great many. The justice of coining silver is not disputed except by the money kings, but they control Congress. What the fate of for moving on the line. the income tax proposition will be is problematic, as a majority of the Ways disturbed, in fact they are badly and Means Committee seem to be op- rattled. posed to it, but it will grow in favor the more it is discussed and wil eventually be a law of the land.

There is lively competition between night Franklin R. Lane brought a stateseveral Western towns for the fight be- ment from ex-Secretary of the Demotween Corbett and Mitchell. Inventor and Artist.

Miss F. E. Hall, the inventor of the china kiln, is one of the women who are rapidly coming to the front. She was born at the old Elisworth homestead at Windsor, Conn. her father being a well known lawyer of Washington, whose social prestige and kindly nature made him the recipient of the distinguished friendships of Webster, Clay and Pierce, and her great-grandfather was Oliver Ellsworth, who was minister to France and chief justice of the supreme court | 2 under the Adams administration.

The Ellsworth homestead is a fine old place. In one of the charming rooms is the old copper urn which "the father of his country" drank coffee from, and on the wall hangs a fine Gobelin tapestry, which Napoleon I presented to Oliver Ellsworth when minister to France. Miss Hall made her invention when on a quiet visit to the Catakills. She rigged up a crude contrivance which cost the small sum of $4. After repeated efforts to bake some decorated eggs she gave up in despair, when the thought of the test rod occurred to her, which afterward proved such a great success. The first kiln was heated by charcoal, and two years later gas was substituted. The kilns, which have been constantly improved, are of three different sizes. It was Miss Hall who invented the new line of color preparations for the use of ceramic artists. These new colors are inclosed in glass pots, ready for instant use, and at all times possess that quality of remaining moist and smooth, thus saving artists many hours of tedious preparation and aiding them in their work.—New York Herald.

Higher Education of Women. The movement for the higher education of women advances with increasing momentum. There are 30 women registered in the postgraduate department at Yale, an increase of seven over last year. In the woman's department of Brown university there are 75 students.

In the charter recently bestowed by parliament upon the University of Wales is a clause which reads: "Women shall be eligible equally with men to any degree which the university is by this, our charter, authorized to confer. Every office hereby created in the university, and the membership of every authority hereby constituted, shall be open to women equally with men"—a clause which college women should be on the alert to see printed in the charters of other institutions which admit women to the student's desk, but not to the professor's chair.

Furman university, the great Baptist Will attend to orders from outside towns. institution at Greenville, S. C., has References from Carson, Hawthorne, Wads- opened its doors to women students desiring to pursue special studies or to stand for degrees.

At Wellington, Cape Colony, there is a seminary, founded some years ago, whose faculty numbers 20 and whose alumnæ include more than a thousand women descendants of Dutch, French and English settlers. The school is self support-
